

Kevin Wilson, an Iraq War veteran, is walking the 1,300 miles of the September 11th National Memorial Trail as part of a pilot program for Warrior Expeditions.

Kevin left the Pentagon on August 24, staying wherever he could along the way. This Thursday, September 15, he will arrive in Portage, PA, with his guide dog, Calvin, who is trained to help Kevin through visual obstacles, as well as other medical alerts, mobility aid and some skills to help with PTSD issues.

Warrior Expeditions, an organization that helps veterans by offering outdoor distance therapy, has asked the Portage Area Historical Society to host Kevin, offer him a bed, food, a site to get supplies, and refuel for the rest of the trip.

Please join us at 7:00 at the Portage Station Museum, 400 Lee Street, to welcome Kevin and Calvin.
